CHURCHES AND THEIR WORKERS-RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES OF ALL DENOMINATIONS

PHILLIPS BROOKS' CHURCH NOW SCENE OF REAL PENTECOST

In Old Church of the Advent Dr. E. M. Frank Does Most Unique Work in City.

A little Pentecost, repeated weekly, may be witnessed in the quaint edifice of the Church of the Advent, 5th and Buttonwood atreets. In this old, weather-beaten building, where Philitps Brooks once preached sermins, that helped to make him famous, to some of the select families of Philadelphia, the Rev. E. M. Frank, the rector, is doing work that is more unique than may be found in Palladelphia, and possibly in the country.

The old church is endowed, but with the changing neighborhood, it was in the changing neishborhood, it was in even a more unfortunate position than if it had been without money, a few years ago. It was almost without members. Old families had moved into the suburbs with the growth of congestion in the once fashionable section north of Franklin Square, and the houses that once served as comfortable homes were in many cases turned (see labiting and tenemany cases turned into lodging and tenement buildings, occupied largely by impigrants, who spoke many tongues. To add to the misfortunes of the parish, the "red-light" section, which flourished previous to Mayor Blankenburg's adjuntarially converted. istration, crowded upon it, and this drove still more of the old families away. But the parish was fortunate in one respect: It had a rector with a vision. Doctor Frank is not one of the kind of elergymen who finds leisure a pleasure. He is happiest when he is doing some definits work among the unfortunates and, because of this, he has never seen a day when he has felt time a burden-when it was difficult to find something to when he has felt time a burdenwhen it was difficult to find something to do. When he found practically no parish to minister to he started out to build up one around him. Out among the friendless men and women who crowded the tenements and talked in a dozen tongues he reached for souls.

Being fortunate enough to be able to speak several of the languages and energetic enough to learn to speak those he did not know well. Dector Frank found it easy to interest the new arrivals in America. They were, like all newcomers, anxious to make friends among Englishspeaking people. Doctor Frank, being possessed with an affable disposition and desirous of helping these people, soon had them all at his door. Marvelous results for the good of the neighborhood have been the result. To a visitor there could be no more interesting place on a Sunday than Doctor Frank's services in the Church of the Advent.

At 8:30 o'clock in the morning a Mass

the Church of the Advent.

At 8:30 o'clock in the morning a Mass is sung in Servian; at 16 o'clock, and lasting until 12, there is a regular Episcopal service, with a sermon in Folish, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon there is a Mass in the vernacular of the Armenians. When Doctor Frank cannet get native-speaking priests to officiate at the services he does so himself, having become fluent in many of the foreign languages of southern Europe during several years of southern Europe during several years resided abroad, s believes a mistake is made in trying to thrust upon immigrants the language and customs of this country which are entirely unsuited to their experience. Far more good can be done among them, he believes, by permitting them to do their good work in their usual way and gradually become acquainted with the American methods.

can methods. The progress of the work done is shown by the crection of a new church at 6th and Spring Garden streets by the congregation of St. Michael's Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church. Only a handful of members began to worship in the Church of the Advent when Doctor Frank told them they could hold the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic services there. But their rector, the Rev. J. T. Krohmalney, soon added to the congregation, and the probabilities are that there will be a big edifice at 5th and Spring Garden streets to replace the present structure before many years have passed.

The Friendly Path

What constitutes a man? To whom would you point when hoosing a model for your son to fol-

Certainly you would want him to emulate in his life such energy, am-bition and activity in others as would assure him a comfortable livelihood. But no matter how successful a man may have been, or now is, in obtaining the goods of this world, you would not ask your boy to take him as an ex-ample if he were not a good man. The world recognizes a man more for what he is and does than for what he has.

The fine thing about doing good and living good is that we are sure to be happlest when we see our brothers enjoying the fruits of our own good

After the $50,000 fund had been collected for the Boy Scout work in Phila-delphia, Dr. Charles D. Hart, the ex-ecutive chairman, declared: "We have enjoyed the work so much you'll never get us out of the Boy Scout activities unless you throw us out or we are no longer glive. Although I am not a sentimentallst, I am certain that, after all, the greatest happiness that comes to us we receive when we are conscious that we are doing some kindly service and are helping a good Above everything else, every father wants his boy to be happy when he grows to manhood.

Granting that this is true, there is but one kind of a man to point out to him as an example. Only a good man, who lives a life of service to his fel-lows, can then be your choice. No person whom a father would pass when hunting a model for his son leserving of being called a man. Fortunately, we can be happy in the knowledge that there are plenty of good men whose lives are constantly scattering sunshine about them everywhere.

Its style is the Italian Byzantine, which lends itself well to a picturesque result in the setting along beautiful Old York road.

TURKEY IN THE WAR

Attitude of Sultan's Country to Be Discussed at Ministers' Meeting.

The war in Turkey has caused much annoyance to church people recently, and there has been several times indications conditions the Congregational clergymen of the city, whose church is greatly interested in Turkish affairs because of its many missionary interests, have arranged for an address by Dr. J. S. Matteosian, an Armenian, who is thoroughly familiar with the affairs in the East, at the Monday meeting of the Congregational Ministers' Meeting in the Hotel Windsor. "Is Turkey Waging a Holy War?" will be his topic.

BELL WILL RING IN MEMORY OF GIRL

Bible and Window Also to Be Dedicated to Miss Harriet Lappin in Northeast M. E. Church.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

MISS HARRIET LAPPIN Popular young church worker, in whose memory a bell, window and Bible will be dedicated. She was killed in an accident.

A memorial window, a memorial Bible for the pulpit and a memorial bell will be dedicated a week from tomorrow at the East Montgomery Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in honor of the late Miss that the Sultan's country was about to enter into a bloody holy war.

Because of the great interest in the conditions the Congregational clergymen the Sunday school and active worker in the Sunday school and active worker in the church affairs, who was killed in a railroad accident at Glassboro, N. J., last August.

Miss Lappin, with her cousins, Harry and Harriet Homan, aged 13 and 11, respectively, were killed instantly when their carriage was struck by an electric train en route to Atlantic City.

The memorial bell, which weighs 1085 pounds, is the gift of the parents of the young woman. The memorial Bible is the gift of the Gamma Delta, a club for girls of which Miss Lappin was the organizer and president, and the memorial window, made of cathedral glass of variegated hues, suitably inscribed, is the appreciation of the Sunday school class Mlss Lappin taught.

The dedicatory services will be conducted in the afternoon by the Rev. Alexander H. Leo, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Dr. Frank P. Parkin, superintendent of the central district of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Philadelphia Conference. A special ritualistic service for the dedication of memorial bell will be used. In the night service Doctor Parkin will preach a dedicatory sermon and special music has been arranged in appreciation of Miss Lappin, who had unusual musical talent.

Miss Lappin, upon her graduation from the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music, won the gold medal prize and gave a recital which sitracted wide interest in the musical circles of the city.

She was organist in the Sunday school and church, teacher of a Bible class and chief torch bester in the Penn Treaty Campfire Girls, in addition to the numerous other official positions she occupied in the social and religious activities of the church.

Doctor Leo spoke of her today as "one ander H. Leo, pastor of the church, and the church.

Doctor Leo spoke of her today as "one of those young women whose talents and of those young women whose talents and activities were so many as to be indescribable. She was a girl whose life simply reduced sunshine at all times."

It is antiopaised that both services tomorrow will be crowded with the friends and associates of the young woman, in addition to the representatives of many musical organizations throughout the city.

"BILLY" SUNDAY TO HAVE EXTRA FORCE FOR LOCAL REVIVAL

Will Add Workers to Party. Music and Words of Popular Song Work of Philadelphians.

Realizing that the task before him in hiladelphia is far greater than in any ity where he has previously conducted ampaigns, "Billy" Sunday is planning to add several strong men and women as extra workers with his party to assure a great success for the revival. There are more than a dozen active members of the Sunday party, and the fact that the extra force is to be engaged while the evangelist is here is encouraging to those who are interested in the movement.

Another interesting thing that has not been previously announced regarding the plans for the coming campaign is the fact that one of the songs that will be used probably more than any other during the big meetings in the tabernacle on Logan Squars is the work of a local musician and author. The song is "If Your Heart Keeps Right." The music to which it is sung was written by D. S. Ackley, a Philadelphia, who is now planist with the Sunday party, and the works were written by Mrs. Lizzie De Armond, a Swarthmore woman. "Brighten the Councer." more woman. 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are' will also be one of the leading revival hymns during the cam-The work in preparation for the cam-

The Rev. George G. Dowey, chairman of the Men's Bible Class Committee and secretary of the Philadaphic Court for secretary of the Philadelphia County Sab-bath School Association, is vigorously ad-vancing the movement and has added 15,bath School Association, is vigorously advancing the movement and has added is. 100 men to Bible classes in all parts of the city since the campaign began a month ago. This makes a total of more than 30,000 men in the men's classes of the city, so that there seems every probability that the 50,000 he started out to obtain the first part of Ocober will be certain before Mr. Sunday gets here. In many churches the 100 men asked for are in the classes, and the members of the classes are out for 200. There has never been such activity among the men of the churches as there is today.
